An Experiment in Education

BHAU - DIDEE

This book addresses issues plaguing primary education in India. Through a case study it examines how new strategies have been organised to circumvent these problems. This initiative has enabled a sizeable section of marginalized families and labouring poor to send their children to school.

Vishal Jadhav is an Assistant Professor of Sociology at University of Mumbai. He has to his credit several articles in various international and National journals and has also contributed chapters in edited books. He has been invited on numerous occasions in the capacity of a visiting fellow to Institute of Development Studies, University of Sussex and University of Johannesburg. He is also the recipient of the Dudley Seers Memorial award for the best article in the Journal of Development Studies.

"...extremely useful contribution in terms of providing insights into primary education system" Dr. Bhapkar, Municipal Commissioner of Aurangabad.

"...the book documents the lacunae in the primary education and also provides us hope...useful contribution by the author."
Professor Sarjerao Salunke
